

CITADEL GROUP MEDIA RELEASE

The Citadel Group's vResponder application will enable Crime Stoppers Australia to build a safer Australia using citizen-centric technology and advanced analytics.

Canberra, Australia – 10, October 2018 – ASX-listed Citadel Group has partnered with Crime Stoppers Australia to build a safer Australia using citizen-centric technology and advanced analytics. Citadel's citizen-centric safety management platform, vResponder, is being developed with Crime Stoppers Australia to digitise the way in which crimes can be reported from members of the public to the law enforcement community.

The vResponder application will be implemented by Crime Stoppers Australia as the keystone of the Safer Australia initiatives designed to increase community safety and digitise crime reporting. The vResponder platform will enable members of the public to report crimes or suspicious behaviour from their smart phones. Leveraging the benefits of secure cloud technologies, the platform is capable of being scaled to improve the safety of every Australian. The vResponder platform is capable of using a suite of Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Cognitive Services tools to digitally triage incoming reports and provide decision makers with the vital intelligence they need to make time sensitive decisions to protect our communities.

Citadel CEO Darren Stanley said at the announcement of the partnership "Crime Stoppers Australia is an incredible organisation which helps makes our communities safer. We are proud to be enabling the next generation of community safety through the vResponder platform which is capable of facilitating the reporting, and solving, of crimes not only in Australia but across the globe."

"It is our vision that by working closely with our partners like Crime Stoppers Australia and leveraging the power of AI and cognitive services we can assist the Government to not only solve crime, but prevent it, and in doing so build a Safer Australia."
